

Craig Anderson

By day, he's a contracting Python developer specialising in Django. Check out his CV (curriculum vitae) (/cv) or download the PDF version (/cv.pdf). If you'd like to hire him, send him an email (<mailto:craiga@craiga.id.au>).

By night, he's exploring his adopted home city of London, probably seeing live music or hunting out an obscure craft beer. When back in Melbourne, he might occasionally play bass guitar in Look Who's Toxic (<http://lookwhostoxic.com>).

He also runs a little Unix Timestamp conversion site (<https://www.unixtimesta.mp>).

There are plenty of other things he should be doing, but most of the time he's dreaming of what he'll do when he grows up while watching bad Star Trek spin-offs.
