Hello, I'm Craig Anderson

By day, I'm a contracting Python web developer specialising in Django. Check out my CV (curriculum vitae) (/cv) (or download the PDF version (/cv.pdf) if you prefer). If you'd like to hire me, please send me an email (mailto:craiga@craiga.id.au). I'm currently available immediately.

By night, you might find me in the kitchen (https://www.pinterest.co.uk/craiga/things-i-cooked-that-were-great/), exploring my adopted home city of London, seeing live music, or hunting out an obscure craft beer (https://untappd.com/user/craiganderson). When back in Melbourne, I might occasionally play bass guitar in Look Who's Toxic (http://lookwhostoxic.com).

I also run a little Unix Timestamp conversion site (https://www.unixtimesta.mp).

There are plenty of other things I should be doing, but most of the time I'm dreaming about what I'll do when I grow up while watching bad Star Trek spin-offs.
